EXECUTIVE BOARD

SUGGESTION MADE THAT DAYS BE SET APART TO CLEAR WASH CHANNEL

A called meeting of the executive board of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce to which the public was invited was held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 1011 West Broadway Wednesday evening. President J. W. Usilton presided and R. M. Jackson served as secretary.

The main items of business taken up for consideration at this meeting were:

1. The arranging a date for Geo. H. Maxwell, executive chairman of the National Irrigation association, to lecture before the Chamber of Commerce and the citizens of the Glendale community.

2. The appointment of a committee to confer with the Los Angeles Merchants and Manufacturers' association relative to the ruling of the Los Angeles city council concerning requiring employees of the city of Los Angeles now residing in the Glendale community to change their place of residence to Los Angeles, or else give up their positions.

3. To consider the best means of improving the condition of the Verdugo canyon wash where the channel is filled up and the water will overflow the banks in case of big rain storms.

The first question was settled by fixing Tuesday evening, July 27, as the date of the Geo. H. Maxwell lecture. The chair appointed T. W. Watson as chairman of a committee to make all arrangements for the lecture.

The second question was disposed of by appointing A. T. Cowan, Geo. T. Paine and Frank L. Muhleman as committee to confer with the Los Angeles Merchants and Manufacturers' association. On motion the secretary was instructed to communicate with other suburban cities and ask them what action they are taking on the ruling of the Los Angeles city council requiring employees of the city to become residents of the city.

The third and probably the most important question was cared for by instructing John R. Barrows, president of the Chamber of Commerce committee, and Geo. T. Paine to head a delegation who will visit the wash Saturday afternoon of this week.

Frank L. Muhleman, John R. Barrows and others suggested that a day or two be set apart for the improvement of the wash, and on these days a thousand men of Glendale and vicinity will come together with spades, shovels, wheel barrows, wagons and teams, and that these men under competent superintendents will proceed to excavate the sand and gravel from the channel of the wash and place it on the banks where it will prevent the water from overflowing and endangering the city. It was suggested that the ladies serve a picnic dinner at the nearest grove and that these days be gala days for the betterment of the Glendale community.

On motion Wednesday, August 18, was set as the date for the Chamber of Commerce and citizens of the Glendale valley to visit Redondo Beach for a day of pleasure and sightseeing. Geo. T. Paine, John Roman and M. P. Harrison were appointed as members of a committee to arrange details concerning this excursion.

At the request of John Roman a motion prevailed for the appointment of a Chamber of Commerce committee whose duty it will be to confer with the Pacific Electric officials for the purpose of ascertaining the company will not give the city crossings across the P. E. tracks at Chestnut and Seventh streets on conditions satisfactory to the city, and thus avoid legal proceedings which are now being planned. The proposed committee will be advised to confer with the city attorney before appearing before the P. E. officials. The chair will name this committee later.

T. W. Preston called the attention of those present to the danger in Tropic where the Los Feliz road crosses the Southern Pacific R. R. The Chamber of Commerce will assist Mr. Preston in this very reasonable request of asking the railroad company to provide a flagman for this crossing.

BUYS INTEREST IN OVERLAND GARAGE

Wm. B. Cook, formerly of Perry, Oklahoma, who recently arrived in Glendale, has purchased a half interest in the Overland Auto & Sales Co., located at 1312 W. Broadway, from Mr. R. J. Kennedy, who still retains half interest in the business. Mr. Cook and wife have moved into the residence at 413 S. Central Ave., Glendale.

STREETS OF THE CITY

GLENDALE HAS TWO STREETS BUILT AND SURFACED IN UNSURPASSED STYLE

That there is something in the modern belief that state roads should be managed by the state and that only by state appropriation can the burdens of constructing roads of more than neighborhood importance be equitably proportioned, is borne out by the experience of City Engineer Lynch in Glendale, where it is difficult to get some of the citizens to understand the importance and also the economy of laying down a first-class road to begin with and thus save future repairs and constant expense.

"There are no better streets anywhere in the state than Broadway and Brand boulevard," said Mr. Lynch to a representative of the Glendale Evening News yesterday. "Those two streets have been built to last. Their cost, too, was not very high—only 16½¢ a square foot for Broadway and 17 cents for Brand boulevard. We are trying hard to get other streets like them, but it is a matter of expense and it is difficult to get the citizens to consent to tax themselves for good streets. I have known of cases in the city where individuals have strenuously complained of the inferior building of some of our streets, who, when it came to a question of paving streets in which they would have to pay assessment, just as strenuously opposed proper construction."

"Parts of the state highway, of which we hear so much, have cost as high as 35 cents a square foot, but the public is told nothing about that. Five cents a square foot has been the cost of a great many of Glendale's streets. The streets should all have a good foundation of rock; wherever rock has been put in it will be found that the streets have kept in good repair for a long time."

"The county road, which is a good specimen of what such work may be, is well bottomed with rock. Many of Glendale's streets are every bit as good, however, and cost less."

"Not very much was said about streets and roads until lately. The advent of the auto has educated the people as to what they should have and gradually the cities and the states are being covered with a net work of good streets and roads that make life for everybody more of a pleasure than it has formerly been."

"The city of Glendale is putting in several streets on the west side, which will be excellent examples of good macadam streets when completed. Gradually, if this department can accomplish it Glendale will have as good streets as can be found everywhere, but that needs the unselfish co-operation of the citizens. There may be a little more to pay for good streets, but they are the most profitable in the long run."

"It is important as a matter of civic interest and public welfare that Glendale should have fine streets. It does not do to have the public when they come into Glendale say, 'Oh, here is Glendale. You can see the difference between these streets and the county road at once.' That is a very poor kind of ad for the city."

"California has undertaken to construct a system of roads comprising two trunk lines traversing the states from north to south, and a system of laterals connecting the county seats with a trunk line system. A state bond, amounting to $18,000,000, was authorized in November, 1910, and the work of constructing this state system is now well under way. State highway bonds to a large aggregate have been sold and contracts have been awarded for the construction of many hundred miles of highway. Glendale is doing something to keep pace with those improvements."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR EVENING

PICNIC

The Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church will have an evening picnic at Echo Park Friday, July 23, at 6:30 o'clock.

All young people of the church and congregation, also any young people in Glendale who are without a church home are cordially invited.

Endeavorers who are in Los Angeles will go directly to the park from business and those in Glendale will meet at Broadway and Brand boulevard to take the 6:05 car.

ABUNDANT WATER

One of the blessings of which many do not appreciate as fully as the value of it deserves, is the abundant supply of pure water that is common to California cities and towns. The purity and healthfulness of our water supplies is indeed a rich endowment.

RETURNS FROM CAPITAL

PETER L. FERRY SUBMITS BID FOR BUILDING ROAD TO HIGHWAY COMMISSION

Mr. Peter L. Ferry, local contractor, returned Wednesday morning from Sacramento where he went to personally submit a bid to the state highway commission for the building of five miles of state highway from Verdugo road, La Canada, to Littlelands. Out of ten bidders Mr. Ferry was next to the lowest man and while the bids are still under advisement and the contract has not been let it is probable that Andrew Holloway of Pasadena, the lowest bidder, will be the lucky man. Mr. Ferry was interested in getting an insight into the workings of the state highway commission.

A comparison of the figures submitted by the different contractors is very interesting and is evidence of the difficulty which confronts a contractor in estimating the cost of a big job of this kind. The engineer's estimate of the work was $38,576.05. The bids received were:

A. Holloway, Pasadena	$34,583.40
Peter L. Ferry, Glendale	45,165.00
L. Gurnsey, Los Angeles	46,130.45
Tyrn & Brain, L. A.	48,758.30
Taylor & Salata, L. A.	48,450.90
Mesmer & Rice, L. A.	49,841.35
Fred Hoffman, Long Beach	51,089.90
White & Gaskill, Long Beach	56,635.50
Kennedy & Williams, Los Angeles	57,327.80
Rogers Bros., L. A.	50,753.20

THE NEWS CAPITAL PRIZE NOW ON DISPLAY AT KING-MAXWELL AGENCY

Second Extra Vote Offer

Here's the second big extra vote offer of the contest. Forty thousand extra votes will be issued on every $25 worth of new subscriptions to the Evening News or Tri-City Progress turned into the Glendale Evening News office between Saturday, July 17, and Saturday, July 31, at 8 o'clock p.m. All daily subscriptions to count on this offer must be for at least three months, and all subscriptions to the Tri-City Progress must be for one year or longer.

The 5-passenger $850 Maxwell Touring car, first capital prize in the Glendale Evening News Great Popularity contest, arrived in Glendale Wednesday evening and is now on display in the show rooms of the King-Maxwell agency at Sixth and Brand boulevard. The car should be seen by every contestant for it certainly is a beautiful machine.

Every Day Counts

There are but eight working days left of the second big vote offer which closes Saturday evening, July 31, and every day counts. Two new subscriptions a day from now until the 31st will help your vote appreciably, and make a far bigger total than if you wait until the last day or two of the offer. In eight days you can easily do what would be impossible in two days, for if you wait until the last minute you will find that many of your friends will be away or be unable to give you a subscription on such short notice.

PAPERS ARE READY

At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce committee, appointed some time ago to make arrangements acceptable to the Pacific Electric Railway company in connection with the desired extension of that railway east on Broadway to the Childs tract, it was announced that the matter was now in its final shape. It appeared from the committee's report that it had completed the work delegated to it. Title has been secured to all property necessary for right of way and everything was now in readiness to put up to the railway, which is expected to do its part in carrying out the plan.

M. E. HOME MISSIONS

In spite of the oppressively hot weather quite a large number of the ladies who are members of the Women's Home Missionary society of the First Methodist church held a successful and enthusiastic meeting at the home of Mrs. G. F. Taylor, 883 S. Louise street, Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. McKeehan was in charge of the program. She was assisted by Mrs. Potter.

Mrs. Anderson read an interesting story of missions. Mrs. Ingledue made a very full and comprehensive report of Home Missions day at the camp meeting at Huntington Beach.

ENTERTAIN CELEBRITY

IRMA GUTHRIE WRIGHT DINNER GUEST OF MR. AND MRS. MATTISON B. JONES

Mr. and Mrs. Mattison B. Jones entertained with a dinner party Wednesday evening at their home, 106 Orange street, in honor of Miss Irma Guthrie Wright, the well known opera singer who was a former classmate of Mrs. Jones at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. The color scheme was gold and white, an immense bowl of Shasta daisies centering the table, while favors reposed in gold bon bon baskets at each cover. Dainty cards hand decorated with daisies marked places for the guest of honor, her mother, Mrs. Eugenia B. Wright; her brother, Mr. Rob Wright; Mrs. M. Ewell Smith, mother of the hostess; Miss Mamie Jackson, recently of Kentucky; Miss Winifred Jones and the host and hostess.

Miss Wright is a beautiful and charming woman who has become famous as a singer. She has spent the past fifteen years in Italy with the Royal Opera company where she has been the protegee of the queen of Italy. She had already made a name for herself in that country when called home permanently by her father's death. She is devoted to her mother and is now in California on account of her mother's health. The Columbia people have many fine records of Miss Wright's work, among them the Trio from Faust and the Sextette from Lucia. This talented lady will give a group of French songs before the Friday morning club tomorrow and Mrs. Jones has invited several ladies to be her guests at this meeting.

Wednesday evening was spent in reminiscences of jokes and pranks of school days and in looking over photographs of schoolmates and friends of earlier years. Miss Winifred Jones, the daughter of the house, sang during the evening for Miss Wright who was delighted and predicted a future for Miss Winifred as a singer. Miss Wright is an interesting talker and her experiences during the past fifteen years are as intensely entertaining as the fairy tales of our youth. In the past fifteen years she has crossed the ocean twenty-four times. She advises American girls to study at home unless they wish to go abroad for the atmosphere. American girls who have not been so fortunate as to have the introductions that she had have to suffer real hardships while studying in European countries. It is possible that Miss Wright may open a studio in Los Angeles this fall. This talented lady is better known to the public by her stage name, Made-moiselle Blanche Du Quesne.

OPENING OF PLAYGROUND

Mrs. Ella W. Richardson, president, and Mrs. Emma W. Miller, secretary, of the Pacific Avenue Parent-Teacher association, announce that the final arrangements have been made relative to the formal opening of the playground Saturday, July 24. The following chairmen of committees have been appointed: Mrs. Clarke, committee on pencils; cafeteria dinner, Mrs. E. S. McKee, meats; Mrs. Earl Bond, vegetables; Mrs. G. B. Roach, salad; Mrs. Lucy Durham, coffee; Mrs. Stephen C. Packer, ice cream and sherbert; Mrs. C. H. Woolsey, pastry and desert; Mrs. L. Dack, punch; Mrs. J. Hearnshaw, decorating; Mrs. G. H. Jordan, dishes; Mrs. A. Warde, furniture. Each member of the various committees is working to make the dinner a financial success and all persons desiring to donate towards the dinner will kindly communicate with any of the above mentioned ladies. The dinner will be served, following the athletic sports and the baseball game and will be given in the large and cool concrete court of the school building.

AT SHAKESPEARE CLUB

At a most delightful session of the Shakespeare club, held yesterday at the home of Mrs. Coral Harrison Sloan, 1550 Myrtle street, Colonel R. E. Hewitt of Orange county was an interested visitor. Colonel Hewitt, who has known Mrs. Sloan since she was a young girl, expressed his delight at seeing her class and in listening to her masterly interpretation of the great play.

At the close of the reading of the third act of "Hamlet" Mrs. Sloan served a most exquisite sherbert which was immediately christened the "Shakespeare Special." It was a delicately flavored peach sherbert with white peaches sliced adorning it, the whole delicious creation being crowned with an abundance of whipped cream and topped with maraschino cherries.

BEFORE THE PUBLIC

MRS. WAYLAND BROWN, PROFESSIONAL "COACH," HAS WIDE EXPERIENCE

There is a fascination in stage work that no professional ever escapes. The stage follows them; it leads them through the years; it is their minister and yet they are its slaves. The fascination of the footlights and the spotlight, the applause of the crowd; "the being pointed out," as Horace said, "by the finger of the passerby," all that is as the breath of life to those who have once lived in the enchanted atmosphere.

Glendale is fortunate in having several eminent devotees of the theatrical art in its midst and in being favored with the benefits of their guidance in things dramatic. The success with which Mrs. Wayland Brown, for instance, put on the "Women of the Bible" for the Tuesday Afternoon club; "Polly of the Circus" for the High School; the Floral Queen pageant at the Festival of Fruits and Flowers and the "Minstrel Show" in the same week for the Tuesday Afternoon club, is evidence that the old professional gifts cannot lie idle.

Mrs. Wayland Brown, who with her husband came more than a year ago to reside in Tropic, where they bought a home at 347 Gardena avenue, has been doing more or less of her old professional work since her arrival in this neighborhood. It has been impossible for her to hide her talent, although she had retired from professional work and wanted rest. So many and increasing have been the demands on her time that she has at last determined to enter more completely on the work of professional teacher in dramatic expression and as "coach" of plays and devote her spare time to that field.

Mrs. Brown before her marriage was well known as Miss Elinor Lincoln of Topeka, Kas. She began her public work very early, having been a pupil in the famous Hart-Conley dramatic school, Chicago, Ill. This school at different times received the highest recommendation from such theatrical authorities as Augustine Daly, Edwin Booth, Joseph Jefferson and sent out to the stage many famous professionals such as Margaret Illington. Miss Lincoln (Mrs. Wayland Brown) was fortunate enough to win a scholarship in this school in competition with 150 others and went through the full dramatic course, coming out at first to play ingenue parts in such companies as Sothern's, with whom she played in "The Proud Prince," and Hackett's, with whom she played in "Rupert of Hentzau." She also played in several first-class melodramas at that time.

Returning to Kansas she took up the work of a professional "coach" and coached plays throughout Kansas and in all the first-class colleges of the middle west. She put on Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" at Manhattan, Kas., with 150 in the cast, and under the auspices of Fred W. Bartell, the well-known Chautauqua owner and manager, gave "As You Like It" at the Winfield, Kas., Chautauqua, with great success.

Mrs. Brown has made three trips to California as a professional impersonator, with much acceptance, in connection with the Santa Fe reading rooms. In the course of this engagement she brought her own company to the coast.

In New York she had much success in producing along with the famous Colonel Bragg, "Alice in Wonderland," with 250 children on the stage. She has coached many companies in such plays as "As You Like It," "The Taming of the Shrew," "The College Widow" and "Brown of Harvard." Her work received much commendation in the Berkeley School of Dramatic Art and also in the Oakland Y. W. C. A.

That a teacher of such undoubted standing should offer her services to public of Glendale is a fortunate thing for those who are in a position to take advantage of it.

SAN FRANCISCO'S BAD NAME

San Francisco is the wickedest city in the United States, in the opinion of Mrs. Frances Howlett Wright, field secretary of the World's Purity Federation, who is attending the ninth International Purity congress here.

"San Francisco does not seem to want reform," said Mrs. Wright. "When our investigator reported things he saw in San Francisco tears streamed down his cheeks. All our efforts to start a reform wave here have failed. But San Francisco must see the light. It must reform in time."

LINCOLN STORY TOLD

LITTLE ONES AT LIBRARY CHILDREN'S HOUR LEARN OF GREAT PRESIDENT

No matter how often repeated the story of the great liberator president always interests and enchains the hearers. The history of Lincoln and his early struggles, his successful acquisition of an education under adverse circumstances, the many picturesque features of his life and his dramatic death, enthrall the present generation of children just as they have enthralled past generations.

Abraham Lincoln was the subject of Mrs. Danford's talk to the children at the children's hour yesterday morning. In anticipation of the treat that awaited them the children were present in full force and from oldest to youngest listened to the absorbing tale with marked attention.

As the speaker told of the early struggles of a young Lincoln in the midst of the narrowing circumstances of his home and of how he bravely sought knowledge and obtained it at the price of days of hard toil and nights of little ease, the reality of that great life seemed to grow into the souls of the youthful audience. The inspiration of Lincoln's brave fight for an education under circumstances when it was difficult to borrow books and when libraries of the nature of that in which the audience was sitting were practically unknown came home to the children with double emphasis.

Mrs. Danford pointed out how easy it is to acquire knowledge in our own days and how comparatively difficult it was in Lincoln's day and yet how that very difficulty seems to have stimulated the mind of the great president in his youth and made him all the more determined to overcome those difficulties. The lesson to the children of today was that when we reason out something by our own understanding we gain a knowledge that abides with us—a knowledge that becomes a part of ourselves and of which nobody can rob us.

Devoting the latter half of the hour to further instruction in the method of finding books by intelligent use of the catalogues, the librarian imparted much useful knowledge to her youthful class. The children are every day manifesting more desire to obtain books for further study of the subjects touched on in these Wednesday morning talks. The library staff is directing this desire into the proper channels and thereby fulfilling one of the great ends of a modern library.

MISSIONARY ENTERTAINED AT ARD EEVIN

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Campbell were host and hostess Tuesday evening at their beautiful and hospitable home, Ard Eevin, North Glendale, at a dinner party, the guest of honor being Miss Helen Smith of Soochow, China, who is at home on a three months' furlough. This dinner followed the all-day missionary meeting and picnic at La Ramada where Miss Smith was also a complimented guest. Mrs. Campbell is president of the missionary society which supports Miss Smith on the foreign field. Covers were laid for the guest of honor, her mother and brothers, Mrs. Anna Smith and Messrs. Theodore and Irwin Smith of Highland Park, Rev. and Mrs. W. E. Edmonds, Mr. and Mrs. David Black, Mr. Ketterling, Mr. Arthur Campbell, Jr., and the host and hostess.

A very pleasant evening followed the dinner, Miss Smith's presence being a source of much pleasure to all. Her furlough is for three months only, including the forty days spent on her homeward journey and in returning to her work so that her time here is very limited.

PRESSING CLUB FOR GLENDALE

James F. McBryde and E. H. Walton have started an enterprise at 1208 W. Broadway which is the only thing of its kind in Glendale, namely, a pressing club, where you can get your suits pressed (one each week) for a $1.00 a month. This plan has been tried in many other cities, particularly in the southern states, where it has been very successful, and there is no reason why Glendale couldn't support such a business. All suits are insured against loss by fire and first-class work is guaranteed.

PRACTICAL CONSERVATION

In the development of Alaska's resources the authorities at Washington will exercise scrupulous care to protect its public domain riches against the predaciousness of gluttonous greed. This is the kind of practical conservation that should obtain up there.

CANADIAN RAILROADS AND THE WAR

Into every branch of human activity the war in Europe is thrusting its long arm and making its dire influence felt. Just as the mere moving of a small stone, nay even of a single grain of sand on the seashore, changes at once the center of gravity of the earth, so the constant financial demands of the war are being felt in every corner of the world.

Small wonder that Canada is feeling the pinch of the war time. Little marvel that its railways are unable to make a success of their business and that the government has already taken over a large part of the Northern Transcontinental system. In fact, the time when the whole Canadian system of railroads will be nationalized is not far off. It is going to be a costly proceeding and is especially difficult to do even in part at present when it is next to impossible to borrow money for purposes in which there is the smallest element of doubt.

It is said that part of the business of the Canadian premier, Sir Robert Borden, in England at present, is to see what British capitalists can do to relieve the situation. The railways apparently cannot meet their obligations and the Canadian government may be obliged to take them over. The operation would be very difficult, especially now when Canada is saddled with war expense.

Canada, however, cannot afford to have an incompetently managed railway system and even if it smacks of state socialism is likely to take its railways in charge so that the interest on money borrowed may be paid and national credit remain unimpaired even by implication. There are many who believe that it will not be long before all countries will resort to government ownership of railroads. What the German government has done with its railways shows how vital a question this may be to any nation in time of war.

COMMISSION GOVERNMENT OF TOWNS

Although it is a couple of years since the first test of the commission form of government for towns was begun, the system has taken root and is growing in favor. No fewer than five states—Massachusetts, New York, Virginia, Ohio and Iowa—have general laws making it possible for towns and cities to adopt this system and work out its details to suit themselves. Other American and Canadian cities have varied forms of the same kind of government.

Without doubt the commission form of government is to be the civic government of the future. People are tired of the old haphazard method of intrusting interests involving hundreds and sometimes thousands of millions annually to men who are incapable of managing a $1000 business. The cities of America are determined apparently to run their civic business by means of business men. The day of the incompetent politician is nearly over as far as city government is concerned.

Of course, whenever the advanced thinkers in a city advocate the commission form of government they are accused of wishing to establish an autocracy in the city. Interested newspapers take up the matter and very frequently the public is so mystified that it refuses to consider the plan. That time, however, is rapidly passing away. The citizens of the great American cities are becoming reconciled to having imported city managers, just as they have had for years imported city engineers.

Three universities are now giving courses in civic government and undertake to send out experts fully equipped for doing the work of managing any city. It has been found that the imported city manager makes the tax money go farther than is done under any other system. It has been discovered that the cities are extricated from the slough of debt into which so many of them had been plunged. Waste is stopped; friction between departments ceases. Expenditures are kept within appropriations. The manager is easy to get at and always open to appeal where reform is necessary.

After all, the test of any system is to see it in action. If the new commission system can accomplish all the benefits with which it is credited, it can only be a matter of time before it will be found in operation in all American cities. To have a city manager, to assign his duties and define his sphere of operation, and then to maintain him and support him loyally and vigorously, is to make his rule effective and to benefit the community that employs him.

A TRIFLE LAZY

A lawsuit was recently in full swing and during its progress a witness was cross examined as to the habits and character of the defendant.

"Has Mr. March a reputation for being abnormally lazy," asked counsel briskly.

"Well, sir, it's this way—"

"Will you kindly answer the question asked?" struck in the irascible lawyer.

"Well, sir, I was going to say it's this way. I don't want to do the gentleman in question any injustice, and I won't go so far as to say, sir, that he's lazy, exactly; but if it required any voluntary work on his part to digest his food—why, he'd die from lack of nourishment, sir."—Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph.

The world is seeing red. And it will be blue for generations because of this redness.

To boost California successfully it is not necessary or expedient to disparage any other state or section. This commonwealth has merits enough of its own.

TRAIN TIMES

A passenger recently entered a railroad depot to take the 2:15 p. m. train. The clock in the waiting room was several minutes faster than the one in the office, and the passenger asked the porter which clock was correct. After scanning the clocks carefully the porter, with much satisfaction to himself, replied:

"It don't make any difference which is right. The train goes at 2:15 any how."—Everybody's.

If a live conscience be the mainspring of our actions, we will not go far wrong.

One year ago H. W. Osborn opened a paint, oils, glass, wall paper and picture framing store at "The Sign of the Star," 144 East Second street, Burbank, and says that his policy of high quality and low prices is resulting in good business. Give him a trial.

J. S. Peyton is slowly improving from a nervous attack.

The many friends of Miss Elsie Trout of Fifth and Orange were surprised to learn of her marriage to Walter Laskey at San Diego, Cal., Sunday, July 18, at one o'clock p. m.

Mrs. Geo. H. Goodall of Marion, Ill., mother of Mrs. H. X. Cline of this city, and L. V. Cline and wife of Herrin, Ill., brother of Dr. H. X. Cline, arrived at the Cline home last week. GLENDALE HEIGHTS

Onslo Levinge has gone to San Francisco on a short vacation.

Mrs. Lindsay will entertain a few friends Saturday afternoon in honor of the Australian prima donna, Miss Eva Milott.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pirtle of Douglas, Arizona, are here on a short visit with their relatives, the J. A. Pirtle family.

The standards for the electric lighting system along the La Canada boulevard have been distributed. Each standard will have five lights similar to the Glendale Broadway system.

The road bed of the electric railway is being made of cement and there will be less danger of future washouts.

The Verdugo branch of the county circulating library has been increased recently by the addition of about 200 volumes. The library is nicely located in a little bungalow near the J. A. Pirtle residence, and through the courtesy of the librarian, Mrs. Laura Owen, we made a visit of inspection, finding the books nicely arranged, many of the latest magazines being received regularly and kept on file. The book cases are mostly the work of the librarian and her assistants and are along rustic lines. The library is well patronized and without doubt will be of much benefit to the community.

The Putnam Stone Construction Co. have commenced work on the new bridge across the wash at the Verdugo park entrance and have a gang of men operating a pile driver and a cement mixer and have already made a good start in the work.

P. S. Bernay's new bungalow at the corner of Canada boulevard and Avenue A is rapidly nearing completion, under the direction of the architect and contractor, A. L. Acker.

Mr. Bernay and family expect to take possession about the first of August.

The biggest fool above ground is the man who tried to fool himself.

PERMANENT MONUMENTS

To whom it may concern—The children's musical by pupils of Miss Ruby Dale for the benefit of the Pacific Avenue Playground more than paid for our temporary playthings for this summer.

The friends of the cause who gave sums of money will find on visiting the grounds Saturday, July 24, permanent monuments of usefulness which will be a blessing to many now and years after we are all forgotten. (MRS.) ELLA W. RICHARDSON.

FOREST FIRE BULLETINS AT FAIR

Telegraphic reports of forest fire conditions throughout California are now received at the exhibit of the U. S. forest service in the Palace of Agriculture of the Panama Pacific International exposition, and posted on a large map by pins with different colored heads, indicating the nature and sizes of the fires. With the beginning of the dry summer season the national forests take on a fighting aspect, the force is increased threefold, the lookout towers are opened up and manned, patrolmen start on their rounds, and the entire forest service is primed to keep down to the smallest possible minimum the fires which threaten the forests of the west for four dry months.

The forest service will from now on promptly reflect the results of the contest between the government's forest rangers on one side and careless campers, sparks from engines, brush burners and lightning on the other. The pin map shows, up to date this year, seventy-six fires. Of this total, only sixteen burned over ten acres, while thirty-one were extinguished before they had burned over one-fourth of an acre. A total of 1866 acres of land, either in the national forests or belonging to private parties co-operating with the forest service in fire protection, have been burned, of which only 247 acres were timbered. The rest was brush land. The total damage done to the forests by these fires was only $99,500. They were extinguished at a total cost to the government of $1047,91. These figures represent a great improvement in fire conditions over those existing before the forest service was established, when by this season every year the damage has mounted into several thousand dollars.

IT WOULDN'T SHOW

One of the fair passengers of a yachting party observed that the captain wore an anxious look at some mishap to the machinery of the craft. "What's the matter, captain?" she inquired solicitously.

"The fact is," responded the captain in a low voice, "our rudder's broken."

"Oh, my, don't fret about that," replied the young woman consolingly, "as it's under water nearly all the time no one will notice."—Harper's Magazine.

TROPICO

Mrs. W. R. Alexander entertained with a daintily appointed luncheon at her home on Blanche avenue Wednesday afternoon, complimentary to Mrs. J. E. Browning and her daughter, Mrs. Albert Smith, of Lincoln, Kansas, Mrs. S. D. Stebbins of San Diego and Miss Rose Kinney of Los Angeles. The guests of honor are cousins of Mrs. Julius Hayes, mother of the hostess. Sunflowers and English ivy were used most effectively in the pretty decorations.

An unusual feature of this delightful luncheon was that three generations of Mrs. Alexander's family were present, Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Norma Pierson and Miss La Moine Pierson, daughter and grand daughter of Mrs. Hayes; also Mrs. S. D. Stebbins, her daughter; Mrs. Wells and grandson, Master Wells.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Maxwell are entertaining at their home on West Park avenue, Mrs. J. C. Balch of Everett, Washington. This interesting visitor will remain several days enjoying the many places of interest in this locality.

TRIBUTE TO MRS. TOLL

In recognition of the invaluable service of Mrs. C. H. Toll, president of the Parent-Teacher federation of Glendale during the past year, has rendered to that body and to the whole community, the presidents of the various Parent-Teacher associations of the past year, assisted Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, 200 Orange street, yesterday in giving a party in her honor. The affair, which was one of the most enjoyable of its kind, was attended by more than 100 ladies. Refreshments were served on the front porch and in the greenhouse specially decorated for the occasion with white, yellow and green. The color scheme was carried throughout every thing even to the ice cream and cake, which was served in the library.

Mr. R. D. White, principal of the Intermediate school, in a well-conceived eulogistic speech conveyed to Mrs. Toll the company's sense of the services she has rendered the community of Glendale. On behalf of the federation he presented Mrs. Toll with a handsome black morocco lined autograph memory album. All the guests present inscribed their names in this album with appropriate sentiments in poetry and prose.

Mrs. Toll responded to the presentation in a few well chosen sentences thanking them not only for their recognition of her work, but also for the personal friendship they had extended her during her term of office.

Mrs. Coral Harrison Sloan, prefacing her recitation by the statement that she had never known anyone who measured up to Kipling's standard of womanhood as expressed in his poem "If," unless it were Mrs. Toll, went on to give a highly original and soul-penetrating interpretation of that wonderful poem, which was received with overwhelming applause by the critical audience. In response to an insistent encore the talented elocutionist gave De Mille's "The Countess."

William Allen White

That which follows is written by a man, and naturally contains a man's point of view. But the man who wrote it has supported woman's suffrage in two campaigns; has stood with what valor a mere man may command in politics for all the women's legislation which the women have demanded, for more than twenty years, facing the "beasts at Ephesus" who have roared dreamer and visionary at him for things which the beasts aforesaid later have accepted as part of the sacred established order.

Therefore when we declare—and nail this thesis to the wall—that there is considerably more work to do for women in the home than is being done in all the circles of the community, we should not be crucified as an enemy of the sex.

The work that women have to do today in the home is not of course the old work that their mothers and grandmothers did. Much of that work has been socialized. The canner, the power loom, the common school, the light, heat and power plant have taken much of the drudgery from woman's hands. But, nevertheless, her job is in the home, and only as she can make the home better by her vote, and make the environment of the home better by her vote can she as a sex—allowing for certain exceptions—find her work in the world as a citizen of the world.

The child, the church and the kitchen—the kaiser trinity—still must be the lower gods of woman. And it is immensely unfortunate that women today should not see that no amount of shifting the responsibility on society is going to lift the blame from the women, whose daughters turn out badly. The world is being flooded with a horde of little, ignorant, rattle-pated hussies—potentially and actually—who have graduated from homes that are a disgrace to civilization, largely because the mothers were lazy. Because civilization has lightened certain burdens, women today are tempted more than in any previous civilization to shirk all burdens. Because food is largely prepared out of the home, and comes in cans and cartons, women today are prone to forget that after all the first raw preparation of food is not the final step in serving food. Cooking is as important an art today as ever in the economy of the home, even though the art has changed. Because the school teaches the child the three R's certain mothers are forgetting that they have a God-given duty to teach their children the major virtues in the time that their grandmothers spent in teaching school topics. Lying and stealing and adultery rise out of the modern home, because women in that home are not using as they should use the time civilization has given them in the home to teach children honesty and candor and purity. Divorce is increasing because women are idle. And they are not idle because there is nothing to do in the home, but because they are neglecting the new things that should be done. Vice and crime are largely the product of environment. So is poverty, and they interbreed. But vice and poverty interbreed because the woman as the head of the home doesn't know how to keep up her end of the beam. She is not as civilized as a home maker as the man is in the civilization around her, and the home breaks down. Her cooking is bad—of a sixteenth century badness. So money is wasted on groceries and meats. She knows no dressmaking, so money is wasted on clothes. She knows no arts of entertainment, so money and morals go into the movies and the cheap theaters. The homes of the poor are undercivilized, and it is largely the woman's fault that they are. And one of the big jobs of women of the middle and the upper classes is to civilize the homes of poverty. Teach women to cook, to sew, to make homes, to attract their inmates rather than to repel them. Potatoes, peeled thick, boiled in great buckets of water to slop, and standing in the water until the mess is soggy—how many a poor man's dollars goes to waste thus. Ready-made clothes, sleazy, shoddy and dearer than the tailor-mades of the rich, how many a poor man's dollar goes that way to waste. Sensational newspapers sticking dirty snouts in sex crimes and pitching up revolting detail for their readers; vicious movies with the sex relations over-emphasized; girls running the street by day and spooning in the parks by night, because the mother is gadding and doesn't look after them, how many a poor man's daughter goes to hell that route!

These conditions are superficial; they are susceptible of change. And the change must come largely through the activities of the sheltered middle class woman, who today has almost unlimited powers of influence, but who too often is neglecting those powers or misdirecting them.

The woman of today has two big home duties: First to see that her own home is civilized, that her own men and children are cared for expertly, and second to see that the same degree of civilization prevails in all the homes about her. That may be done to an extent through the schools and churches. There women have power. But unless they use their power wisely and industriously, hope for progress of the race will be long deferred.
